RURAL-URBAN RELATIONSHIP

B.A. III (Paper-A)
INTRODUCTION

• Rural and urban areas depend on each other in various activities. It includes mainly economic activities which may be agricultural or non-agricultural

• Thus, both are inseparable parts of an economy
RURAL-URBAN DYCHOTOMY

REASONS FOR RURAL-URBAN DYCHOTOMY

• Urban development
• Large scale migration
• Unlimited expansion
RURAL-URBAN DYCHOTOMY

• Uncoordinated economies
• Faulty system of local govt.
• Different rural-urban problems
IMPLICATIONS OF THE DYNCHOTOMY

• Leading to uncoordinated growth in two sectors
• Depriving urban people from the promotional schemes meant for rural areas
IMPLICATIONS OF THE DYCCHOTOMY

• Leading to wide disparity between rural and urban community facilities
• Expanding urban process beyond municipal limits by encroaching rural areas
SUGGESTIONS

• Expansion of area for growing towns
• Formation of “regional community”
• Identification of ‘growth centers’
• Linking of urban units with district level organisation
